

Read the article “Remembering the Soldiers” before answering Numbers 1 through 5.

Remembering the Soldiers

The Vietnam War began in the 1960s. It continued until 1973. Many American soldiers died in Vietnam. Jan Scruggs was a soldier in Vietnam. He wanted people to remember those soldiers. He started the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund (VVMF). It raised money. The money would pay for a memorial. This memorial would honor the soldiers who had died in the war.

The VVMF decided to have a contest. The winner would design the memorial. More than 2,000 people entered. A student named Maya Lin won the contest. She was only 21 years old. Her design had walls with the names of the soldiers who died in the war. Maya Lin’s design was simple but beautiful.

Work on the memorial started in March of 1982. The VVMF had raised more than eight million dollars by then. The walls were finished in November of 1982. The walls are made of a black stone called granite. They are very shiny like mirrors. The rest of the memorial included a statue of three soldiers and a flag. This was finished in 1984. The group decided to present the memorial to the American people that same year.

There are 58,272 names carved on the walls. They are the names of the fallen soldiers. About 1,200 of the soldiers’ names are listed as missing. The names are arranged by date. Those who died first are the first names on the wall.

Eight women’s names are on the wall. Women did not fight in the war. They worked mostly as nurses. However, they served an important role. In 1993 another statue was added. It showed some of the women who served in the war.

People who visit the memorial are very moved by it. Many visitors are relatives of soldiers. They find their relative's name on the wall. Seeing the name helps them remember the soldier. Sometimes they make a rubbing. They put a piece of paper over the name. Then they rub charcoal or crayon over it. The image of the name appears on the paper.

Visiting the Vietnam Veterans Memorial is a way to remember the fallen soldiers. The memorial is a beautiful and peaceful place. It honors those who fought for our country.

If You Give a Mom a Muffin

If you give a mom a muffin,
She'll want a cup of coffee to go with it.
She'll pour herself some.
Her three-year-old will come and spill the coffee.
Mom will wipe it up.
Wiping the floor, she will find some dirty socks.
She'll remember she has to do the laundry.
When she puts the laundry in the washer,
She'll trip over the shoes and bump into the freezer.
Bumping into the freezer will remind her she has to plan supper.
She will get out a pound of hamburger.
She'll look for her cookbook.
(How to Make 101 Things with a Pound of Hamburger)
The cookbook is sitting under a pile of mail.
She will see the phone bill, which is due tomorrow.
She will look for her checkbook.
The checkbook is in her purse,
Which is being dumped out by her two-year-old.
Then she'll smell something funny.
She'll change the two-year-old.
While she is changing her two-year-old, the phone will ring.
Her five-year-old will answer and hang up.
She'll remember she was supposed to phone a friend
To come over for coffee.
Thinking of coffee will remind her she was going to have a cup.
She will pour herself some more.
And chances are,
If she has a cup of coffee,
Her kids will have eaten the muffin that went with it.

In Honor of Mothers

Every May, people celebrate a holiday called Mother's Day. It is a day to send greetings of love to your mother, or to someone who has been like a mother to you. People send cards, flowers, and presents to express their love for their mothers.

It all began just over 100 years ago. A lady named Anna Jarvis decided that mothers were special people to honor. She wrote letters to state officers, business people, and newspapers, asking that a day be set aside. Oddly enough, Anna Jarvis herself never married nor had any children.

Finally, the United States President, Woodrow Wilson, with the approval of the U.S. Congress, decided that the second Sunday of May would be a national holiday — Mother's Day. Today, even people in Canada and Mexico celebrate this holiday.

Complete the sentences below with information you learned in the article above.

1. The person who convinced people to have a Mother's Day was _____.
2. _____ was the President who declared Mother's Day a national holiday.
3. The odd thing about the lady who started it all was that she _____.
4. The main idea of this article is:

I know I drive my mom up a wall
When playing in the house with my basketball.

Even though I'm skating on thin ice,
Sometimes she has to warn me twice.

I can often be a pain in the neck,
And my bedroom is always such a wreck!

Sometimes I make the loudest sounds.
My mom doesn't like when I monkey around.

After my previous HUGE mistake,
Mom said, "This one takes the cake!"

I daydream a lot with my head in the clouds,
And my mom somehow still seems proud.

She says I'm the apple of her eye,
But I must admit, I don't know why!
